Graphic Shows Players Catalysts, Leads, and Centers FIFA 22 implements a new match engine with all-new refereeing and player intelligence, allowing FIFA players to create their own tactics, share them with the community, and create their own players through gameplay. In addition, FIFA introduces the “ease of play” feature, allowing players to move more quickly and efficiently through gameplay, and enjoy flow-based gameplay. “With a more action-heavy, free-flowing approach, we’re bringing the game to life in ways that have never been possible before,” said FIFA 22 Lead Producer Jeremy Dean. “In FIFA 22, we’re creating a faster, more engaging, and rewarding experience.” FIFA 22 brings a wider range of ball physics to create a more realistic and responsive ball, delivering a ball that reacts differently depending on the type of shot, spin, pass, or dribble used. Additionally, more accurate first touch and more refined ball control are created with new break-in mechanics and artificial intelligence. “In FIFA, the game will recognize the type of move you are making and react with great precision, based on how you want to play and how you want to influence the match,” said Lead Designer Adam Parrish. “For the first time ever, you will feel the ball under your boot and the tactile feedback of your shot, pass, dribble, or heading will make you feel like you’re the player in the heat of the moment.” The new game will feature fast paced, competitive gameplay as well as the best FIFA mobile gameplay to date, which is a mix of skill, tactics, soccer strategy, and free-flowing gameplay, all of which match the core values of FIFA. [...] FIFA 20 defines an era for the series, and marked an inflection point in the evolution of the franchise. The changes in design and technology we introduced with FIFA 20 laid the foundation for this ambitious title. And as we continue to push the bounds of what’s possible in the series, we are setting out to exceed our own expectations, and deliver one of our greatest titles to date. We know that fans are looking forward to this game and we are too. Real Football Placement Details FIFA 20 was the last game to make use of Opta Vision F
